Corporate change... But culture eats strategy for lunch.

Participation, engagement, and timely, two-way communication are important factors in successfully transforming corporate worlds. We focus on identifying and resolving the conflicts that can jeopardize company success. Our techniques help your company successfully make internal shifts in corporate culture, brand identity, customer service, and new business development.

- We anticipate and manage natural resistance to change by helping employees articulate and understand the process in a way that positively impacts productivity.
- We remove “log jams” that can hinder the flow that change requires.
- We provide the needed sounding board to objectively weigh staff concerns and complaints in a manner that meets legal/regulatory requirements and also helps steer the company toward greater success.
- We are prepared to provide tailored services to meet your unique needs, including: conflict resolution and mediation, employee counseling and disciplinary action, employee opinion surveys, management training, policy and procedure manual development, employee termination, and more.

Our process is thorough, effective, and reliable.
